Not That We Love Canada Less---But Georgia More

One of the most attractive booths at the recent Southeastern Fair was from Canada—a booth wherein was shown wheat, oats, corn, fruits, potatoes, and other vegetables—in fact, a splendid showing from the soil.

If you will stop to think for just a moment wasn't that a rather peculiar—though admirable—stroke of enterprise for our Canadian friends?

Of course, it was a welcomed booth. Every one was glad to know our friends of the far north recognized us as one worthy of a display. And we have to give them a glad and welcomed hand for their progressiveness. We hope for them the very best of everything. They have a fine, progressive country—and fine people; and we wouldn't say a word that might make them or any other far-away State or section hesitate to make annual displays at our Georgia Fairs.

Thoroughly Agrees With Our Sentiments

POMONA PRODUCTS CO.

Griffin, Ga., Oct. 18th, 1922.

Mr. Scott W. Allen, Gen. Mgr.,
L. W. Rogers Co.,
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir—

In behalf of the Pomona Products Co. the writer wishes to express his appreciation of your sentiments regarding our work as set forth from the Oct. 18th issue of the Atlanta Constitution.

Needless to say it has been an incentive toward greater efforts to build up a business which is based on things other than cotton. Laying aside reference to our particular industry, we thoroughly agree with your sentiments and can well realize how important it is for a farmer to know just what it means to grow high-grade products and market them in first-class shape. That particular feature is our greatest difficulty—to make them realize that if we do not get good peppers from them we cannot pack good peppers nor pay at the same rate. Our efforts are meeting with success even though at a great sacrifice. We, who agitate diversification, need to realize that the real outstanding difficulty on this score is ignorance and in a great measure unwillingness to learn. Personal experience and contact with six hundred farmers during this season, beginning with the distribution of seed, planting of plant beds, transplanting, cultivation, fertilization, picking, grading and delivering to the factory has revealed the wealth of information as to just what educational work must be done to teach the facts enumerated by you. Suffice it to say the great majority are willing to learn, but cannot hope to acquire the knowledge all in one year on any particular product other than cotton, which latter fact seems to be one of the greatest troubles they possess. Another outstanding fact is their ability to become so easily discouraged. You, in your business, as well as we, in ours, have our difficulties and live them through. The average farmer throws his hands up the moment a cog in the wheel gives way a trifle.

These attitudes of mind can and will be overcome, in the same way that the L. W. Rogers Co. has demonstrated what real merchandising means, so will Georgia products come to the front when the same spirit and efforts are put forth in the production of good products as has been shown by you in their distribution.

Again expressing our appreciation of the signal reference to our industry and assuring you of our co-operation in your efforts toward the betterment of Georgia products, we are,

Yours very truly,

much carelessness in presenting what we do produce to the markets of the world. Too much indifference—lethargy—LAZINESS, some folks candidly call it—to progress to the grand and glorious heights the Almighty evidently intended for Georgia when He created and gave to us our God-given climate, our beautiful hills and verdant valleys, our unmatchable soil, our flowing streams, our wonderful minerals—in fact, everything to make us prosperous and happy, and put us in position to make Georgia the greatest State in the Union—if we would THINK—and WORK—and DO.

A friend of ours a few days ago, in discussing our series of advertisements, hit the nail pretty squarely on the head when he said:

"What has made California, Oregon, Washington State, and many other great States of the West? What manner of people has brought our great western country to its high state? Simply our own brothers of the East and the South—many of them. Thousands upon thousands of our restless but ambitious people have gone West. They have planned—and worked—and WORKED. Notwithstanding they have no such season all the year 'round—no regular rainfall as we do, having to irrigate a great deal—no better soil—those restless, ambitious people have done wonders. And while our Georgia people have sat around—many of them—and whittled under the shade of a tree, or have been keeping their eyes on a field of negroes trying to beat the boll weevil, our western boys have pushed in, and are today shipping to us hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of fruits, and grain, and vegetables, and other products of the soil, and canned goods, and the like. And then, sometimes, we grumble because 'tis true. Enterprise, push, study, diligence, co-operation—WORK—those are the things that have made the West—and it'll make Georgia, too, if we'll go to it."

And if you're honest, Reader, you'll say "amen."

Here's just a little instance which bears out the indifference of some Georgia people to the opportunities before us. Another friend related this to us:

"Three or four years ago I went up into North Georgia on a few days' fishing trip. I stopped with a fairly good farmer in the neighborhood. At one of our meals something was said about Irish potatoes, which his good wife had cooked up elegantly. I found he had bought them—paying about $3.00 per bushel for them. I asked him why he didn't raise his own Irish potatoes. He said—

"Why, it can't be done up here on my land—I've tried—"

"Oh, yes it can," I told him. "If you'll set aside those two acres right out there by your barn, I'll furnish the seed, and if you'll plant them and cultivate them like I tell you, you'll raise enough potatoes not only for your family, but for this whole country. And if you don't I'll stand all the expense."

"He agreed to plant one acre, and planted it just as I directed. And he made about 70 barrels of potatoes—fine ones. He sold much of his crop, and stated that the following year he was going to plant his whole farm in potatoes. And if he had done so he would have had more money than he had ever made before."

"The next year I went up, and would you believe me, he hadn't planted a single potato. He had just put his negroes and other help out as usual, mostly on corn and cotton, and he was just about as short of money as usual—and again was buying his potatoes, and no doubt they were from Maine, too."

Isn't that typical of many Georgia farmers?

Let's get over these old habits—let's progress.

Let's go, Georgians.

Sincerely,

SCOTT W. ALLEN,
Vice President and General Manager

Neither would we try to build up Georgia at the expense of any other section or country. So, understand, that what we are saying is not in a spirit of decrying in any way the great country of Canada.

But, listen, folks! Wouldn't it be a great deal better if Georgia could—and WOULD—make some fine exhibits up in Canada?

Doesn't it seem possible and practical that where Canada might attract, through her exhibits, one man from Georgia to come to their country because of the splendid crops grown there—that Georgia could draw ten to twenty men from Canada through proper exhibits to come to this State and live?

It is this reflexion that makes us admire the progressive spirit of Canada in placing an exhibit in Georgia.

Without being too pompous about the matter—holding our pride in Georgia down just as much as we can—might we not ask, What has Canada to offer that we cannot offer?—and how MUCH MORE have we to offer thrifty, industrious farmers than Canada has?

Absolutely there's no comparison in climate, in rainfall, and in other conditions that make for successful farming and gardening—for dairying—for trucking.

Compare the cold, rigid weather of this far northern country, where snows cover the ground for months and months in the year, with the mild, delightful climate of Georgia, where crops of many kinds can be produced practically all the year 'round—some vegetable crops as many as three and four times a year.

Why, if some of those enterprising, well-trained, industrious farmers and truckers of Canada were to come down into Georgia and start their work here, they would produce more—make more money—on a little farm of ten to twenty acres than a whole lot of our Georgia farmers have ever made—or will ever make, if they don't get wise to all the opportunities before them—on a 200-acre plantation.

Some of you Georgians, perhaps, won't want to hear this. And we regret to say it—but it's true and everybody knows it.

Of course, we're not talking to you, Mr. Reader. We're talking to the other fellow. But there's so many of the other fellow.

If we had 500 or 1,000 of the shrewd, smart, industrious truck farmers and dairymen of the far west and north—some of those fellows who are making big successes on a few acres of land—and many of them cannot get any more land up there—to come to Georgia, and enter into intensive farming and truck raising as they know how to do it—well, it would set a pace that Georgians would have to follow.

And they would soon follow it, too. And in a few years Georgia would blossom like the "proverbial rose."

We've got to get away from old methods—old ideas—old ruts. There's too much inefficiency, too much waste between the producer and the consumer, in Georgia. Too much indifference to the markets of the world. Too much indifference to the progress to the grand and glorious heights the Almighty evidently intended for Georgia when He created and gave to us our God-given climate, our beautiful hills and verdant valleys, our unmatchable soil, our flowing streams, our wonderful minerals—in fact, everything to make us prosperous and happy, and put us in position to make Georgia the greatest State in the Union—if we would THINK—and WORK—and DO.

"IMPERIAL DECREE" ISSUED BY EX-KAISER

Following the destruction of a 60-million whisky still on the property of the Walter brothers by Sheriff Kerlin, of Fayette county, and Federal Prohibition Agent T. B. Harris, both men had been arrested while hauling a wagonload of booze in the direction of the still, according to Deputy Sheriff Turner.

The Fayette grand jury has not yet acted on the case.

"It is untrue that the mail carrier furnished the tip that led to the still raid," Deputy Sheriff Turner said. "The raid was made when Sheriff Kerlin received the information from an entirely different source."

JOHN S. M'GUIGAN TO PHILADELPHIA

Lieutenant John S. McGuigan, pay department U. S. marine corps, leaves Wednesday for Philadelphia, Pa., where he will assist Colonel H. C. Reisinger, U. S. M. C., who was recently ordered to assume the duties of paymaster for the marines in the north, with headquarters in the Quaker City.

The wedding ceremony, which will be performed by Doctor Vogel, who was spiritual adviser to Wilhelm in the last years of the war, will take place in the great hall of the castle, immediately afterward the bride and groom will receive the guests' congratulations.

Dr. Vogel will arrive here Friday to discuss with the groom-to-be what text he wishes the wedding sermon ceremony to be selected from. It is understood that both Vogel and Wilhelm favor the thirteenth verse, third chapter of the First Corinthians.

RAILS FURNISH
BIGGEST PROBLEMFinancial Magnates Foresee Slidings of Impending crisis in Nation's Railroad Legislation.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

New York, October 31.—Financial leaders in Wall street foresee developments which they believe will turn the railroad question into the biggest problem that congress will have to deal with soon. Work is expected to begin on it at the short December term.

The decision of the railroad labor board to reject the "living wage" as the basis of fixing wages already has brought from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, a demand that the Esch-Cummings act be repealed. President Harding has begun a series of conferences out of which he will form a program of railroad legislation to be presented to congress soon after it reconvenes. These, in the opinion of informed financial leaders here, are the first manifestations.

They see big underlying forces, each dominated by more or less selfish aims, about to bear down on congress for a new handling of the railroad problem. These dissatisfied elements are:

1. Labor—which has always opposed the Esch-Cummings act, and which is now, incensed by the abandonment of the "living wage" as a measuring stick by the railroad labor board.
2. Shippers—who embody the great majority of farmers, stock raisers, lumber men and many manufacturers. They demand lower rates. It is pointed out, however, that many of the larger manufacturers are remaining aloof from the clamor for rate reductions.
3. State railroad commissioners, who were almost legislated out of work by the Esch-Cummings act which gives the interstate commerce commission control over all rate making. These commissioners, pulling strong political strings, want their old authority over intrastate rates restored.
4. Railroad executives, who declare that the railroads are earning only 3 1/2 per cent on their property valuation as fixed by the interstate commerce commission and that while this condition prevails they cannot raise enough capital to expand their lines to meet the growing transportation needs of the country. The executives are also dissatisfied with the regional consolidation plan proposed by the interstate commerce commission and intimate that if mergers are pressed on them, they will contest the constitutionality of the Esch-Cummings act, which provides for this regrouping. Strongly Backed.

Each of these influences is strongly represented in congress. Repubcan leaders have the alternative of heading the demand at the coming session, when they probably could save the Esch-Cummings act by revising it in some respects, or else waiting until the new congress, about to be elected, meets. In the latter event the leaders would have to contend with a far more difficult situation. The progressive senate bloc, with such men as Borah, Norris, La Follette, Ladd and Norbeck, would then include Lynn Frazier, the North Dakota Non-Partisan league; Smith, V. Brookhart and Albert Beveridge. All of these candidates appear likely to be elected and all will be out with a knife to finish the Esch-Cummings act when they reach the senate.

Then, too, such a delay would push the matter closer to presidential year—and that would not be the best time, from the republican point of view, to tinker with the act which President Harding so emphatically endorsed during his presidential campaign.

President Harding appears to favor immediate action and in this view he is strongly supported by financial leaders here who consider the railroad problem the most serious domestic question.

HUGHES ON STUMP
AT JERSEY CITY,
PRAISES HARDING

Jersey City, N. J., October 31.—Declaring that in the present campaign the democratic leaders are waging "a futile controversy with no prospect of achievement," Secretary of State Hughes asked the voters of the country in an address here tonight to uphold the hands of President Harding by returning to office those who have helped to write the administration's record of accomplishments.

In every field, foreign and domestic, Mr. Hughes said, the administration's official had correctly interpreted and carried into effect the desires of the American people.

"And as we pay our just tribute of appreciation and esteem to the leadership of the president," he continued, "we faithfully worked with him and made success possible."

The secretary particularly praised Senator F. D. Ives, who is seeking re-election in New Jersey, and the senator's "experience in affairs, indefatigability, and intimate knowledge of what American prosperity demands have been of the greatest aid to the administration."

Says Clergyman
Had Encouraged
Wife's Fatal LoveHusband of Woman Who Slew Rev. Christler Answers Her Accusers.

Los Angeles, Cal., October 31.—Mrs. Margaret Carleton, who, with the Rev. Leonard J. Christler, was found shot to death in the Christler home at Havre, Mont., had confessed her love for Rev. Christler to her husband, Frank E. Carleton, former district judge of Havre, Mr. Carleton declared tonight in a signed statement.

"I can no longer remain silent in the face of the startling statement of Bishop Faber, given to the Associated Press, that I believe that as a result of the investigation I have made of the tragedy which occurred in the Christler home early Friday morning, and after questioning those who knew about it, that if this woman had been able to work her will on Mr. Christler he would be alive to this day, unfaithful to his wife, but still living," the statement said.

"This attempt to make it appear to the world that Margaret threw herself upon this man, and that he tried to remonstrate with her and lead her to the spiritual path has grieved me into expression."

"I wonder did his reverence know when he made the statement above referred to that this pastor, who it is now claimed, maintained only a friendly and ministerial interest in the Carleton family, had written letters to this woman, and that his wife's maiden name, and sent them care general delivery?"

"Let it be well understood that in making this statement, I intend to cast not the slightest reflection or condemnation upon my wife, for no one knows as well as I do the influence which this man held over her and which she would reasonably be termed hypnotic."

"I have known of Margaret's love for this man for several years, and today by an explosion. The dead: A. P. Gable, D. P. Long, Fred Jennings, all employees of the Atlas company. Loss estimated at $100,000."

Ghosts Walked,
Witches Talked,
Knees KnockedHalloween Was Great Old
Time With Peachtree Ghost
Parade and All.

Atlanta this morning is a city with scarcely a sheet or pillow case that does not bear the dusty marks of Peachtree celebration, and the traffic police of the city are a tired and thankful lot.

The raid on the city's bed linen supply was staged on a big scale Tuesday night by child and youth on Halloween masquerade bent—and the traffic cops are sleeping late as the result of their herculean labors in attempting to keep the gay throngs of celebrants moving along the downtown white ways.

All Atlanta joined in the big parade from the toddling tot who donned a ghostly pillow case with the expressed intention of frightening the other kids, to the jovial grown-up who commanded the clean sheet to "throw a scare" into the wife.

And even if the white-clad toddler did die in terror from an apparition scarcely less weird, of looks than himself—even if "the wife" did fall into an unexpected faint when confronted by hubby in her prize linen sheet—all that has faded into the history of the present day.

The witches of the falltime gala day either attended dances at the clubs or joined the gay throngs of celebrants on the sporting arms of proud escorts—and it was a source of interest that all of them used their magic to take the form of pretty girls.

Perhaps the gaudy gals of old who went to ride aerial brooms on their night did not know of the gentle cosmetic art that contributes so generally to the appearance of the "witches" of the present day.

From an early hour Tuesday night until midnight brought a comparative quiet, the business section was jammed with strolling throngs in white or harvest-colored costumes, and black cats, grinning pumpkins and peaked paper hats were everywhere in evidence.

Costume dances, ringing doorbells, home parties, neighborhood outdoor celebrations, and everywhere thrilled and thrilling kids running and yelling kept every section in mind of the fact that Halloween night was not one to be spent in peace and quiet.

William R. Adams, aged 9, who lives with Mrs. Arthur Campbell, at 87 Washington street, was badly cut by glass early Tuesday night when an automobile driven by Mrs. Campbell, in which he was riding, crashed into a street car at Boulevard and Angier avenues, hurling him from the front seat against the windshield.

Mrs. Campbell was driving south on North Boulevard when the accident occurred. Miss Pearl Burton, of 592 South Pryor street, another occupant of the machine, was also injured by flying glass.

The injured passengers were taken to the Georgia Baptist hospital. Their wounds were not considered serious.

Makes Dummy of Wife,

To Keep Him Company

Boston, October 31.—A woman with painted cheeks and glassy stare to beside Louis Vitale, a shoemaker, in his small shop here all day as he cobbles and sings of love.

Seven years ago Vitale's wife left him. He grieved and longed for her return. Then the bright idea came. He would make for himself a life-size dummy and place her with him in the shop—the image, in his belief, of his missing wife.

Add to this life-size dummy Louis daily sings his song of love and hope. When he wants his Carrie to raise her arse toward him, as if inviting embrace, he presses a floor pedal and the body half turns, the arms moving upright to a level with his shoulders.

Carrie will remain in his shop with him until the real Carrie returns. Vitale says—for she is going to return some day he believes.

U. S. TAX RECEIPTS
SHOW BIG DECREASETotal for September $276-
000,000 Less Than Same
Month Last Year.

Washington, October 31.—Classified government tax receipts for September show a decrease of more than $276,000,000 as compared with last September, the internal revenue bureau announced today. For September this year total receipts from taxes were $354,284,246 as against $630,758,713 for the same month a year ago. For the three months ended with September tax receipts of $800,746,914 reflected a decrease of over $386,000,000 as compared with the same period of 1921.

Receipts from income and profits taxes declining by $244,000,000, showed the greatest decrease for the month the total, which included the third installment, amounting to $276,000,000 as against $517,000,000 for September last year.

Tobacco taxes, however, showed an increase of nearly $3,000,000, the total being nearly $28,000,000 against $25,000,000 last September.

Receipts from estate taxes for September amounting to $5,000,000 showed a decrease of $7,000,000 compared with last year tax collections on distilled spirits of $2,500,000 fell off by nearly $3,000,000, while miscellaneous collections of over $41,000,000 decreased by $28,000,000.

Taxes collected from corporations on the value of capital stock, however, of $13,000,000 in September reflected an increase of over $2,000,000 over a year ago.

Autoists Unhurt
When Wild Train
Demolishes CarFamily of Five Hurlled to Safety by Force of the Collision.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Everett and their three small children, of Battle Hill, Route No. 3, escaped without serious injury shortly after 10 o'clock Tuesday night when their automobile was struck by a stray string of five freight cars on the Stewart avenue crossing of the Southern railroad spur track.

Although the cars, which had broken away from a switch engine, practically demolished the automobile, the father and two children escaped without the slightest injury. They were pitched clear of the wreckage by the terrific impact of the collision.

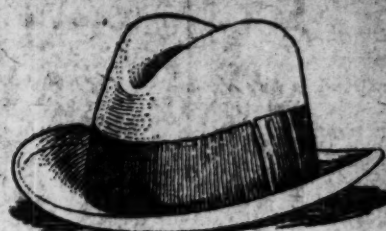

Mrs. Everett sustained a wrenched back and Mary Cain, 7-year-old daughter, was cut about the head. Their injuries were treated at Grady hospital and were not thought to be of a serious nature.

A flagman on the freight cars made frantic efforts to check their movement as they rolled down a grade towards Stewart avenue, but was unable to do so. The cars had become uncoupled from the locomotive, in an unexplained manner.

W. M. Neri, of 74 Elbert street, who was passing in an automobile, took the injured members of the party to Grady hospital.

DIVERS SEARCHING FOR FLYER'S BODY

Honolulu, October 31.—Naval divers resumed their search today of the narrow waterway separating the Lake aviation field and the Isle of Oahu for the body of Sergeant Ross Owens, army aviator who was drowned yesterday with Lieutenant Thompson V. Hykes, when the plane in which they were flying slipped into a plane piloted by Captain T.

FASCIST CABINET IN POWER IN ITALY

"Black Shirt" Revolution Over, New Government Buckles Down to Business-Like Work.

Rome, October 31.—The new Fascist government, now officially installed, is already engaged in a business-like effort to straighten out Italy's disordered affairs.

The thousands of black-shirted fascists through the streets of Rome on Tuesday. This demonstration satisfied the desire of the Fascists to proclaim the complete success of their coup, and they are now expected to meet and return to their homes throughout Italy, in accordance with the order of the new government.

Benito Mussolini, new premier, has already committed himself to a policy of commercial welfare for Italy, at home and abroad. His foreign policy will have two aims—both tending to promote a new era of prosperity for Italy. Those aims are: First, development of friendships with foreign nations which can furnish raw materials for Italian industry; second, establishment of outlets for Italy's surplus population, through emigration to South America and Australia chiefly.

Basic Trouble.

In bending all policies, both foreign and domestic, to the promotion of commercial prosperity, Mussolini recognizes that Italy's basic trouble is economic. He realizes that the unrest which has seethed in Italy since the armistice can be traced back to the fact that the Italian workingman is having a hard time to find bread for his table. He knows Italy can never become stable until there is plenty of work for the whole population.

In two interviews Mussolini outlines the following policies:

1. The Fascist government will be a friend to those who treat it as a friend.
2. France and Italy must arrive at an entente.
3. Bonds of friendship must be formed with nations possessing raw materials.
4. Fresh lands for emigration must be sought out, especially in South America and Australia, and possibly in Asia Minor.
5. Law and order to be preserved at home. Existing laws sufficient if enforced.
6. "Superfluous branches of the tree of state" to be cut off.
7. Moderate socialists may be admitted to the government later but not at present.

To Adjust Problems.

In discussing his hope for an entente with France, Mussolini said it would first be necessary to adjust the question of Tunis, and one other problem, the nature of which he refused to disclose.

"The parliamentary situation is indefinite," Mussolini said he probably would summon parliament November 7 or 8. If he can produce a majority, parliament will be continued until the regular elections, and if not, it will be dissolved at once.

Mussolini displayed the energetic briskness of a big business executive in organizing his cabinet. He wasted no words in selecting his ministers. For instance, he called in Signor Di Cesaro. They were introduced.

Mussolini then said: "I have appointed you minister of posts and telegraphs. Do you accept?"

"Certainly," Di Cesaro replied. "Thanks, good day," the Fascist premier concluded.

Sway to Premier.

Receiving Thophile Rossi, the premier said: "I confirm you minister of industry. Do you accept?"

"Yes," Rossi replied. "I accept."

Seeing Federzoni, Mussolini said: "You'll be minister of colonies. Your under secretary will be Giovanni Marchi. Now go."

He has the sway and good humored well-being of the late Theodore Roosevelt.

No disorders were reported Tuesday. Eight were killed and a number wounded in the engagement at San Lorenzo on Monday.

BANKS CO-OPERATING IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Will Furnish Special Windows to Receive Members During Roll Call.

The Atlanta Trust company, the Lowry National bank will furnish special windows in their lobbies for receiving members to the Atlanta chapter, American Red Cross, during the sixth annual roll call, which begins on Armistice day, November 11.

While all of the Atlanta banks have indicated their purpose to co-operate in the campaign through the display of posters and other methods, the plan to be followed by the three banks will be about as complete as could be provided.

Envelopes issued to the thousands of depositors in these banks, with their monthly statements on November 1, will carry the message of Red Cross enrollment, and attention will be called to the fact that those desiring to enroll and secure their buttons and membership cards may do so at a designated window in the bank lobby.

This co-operation has been assured through letters received at Atlanta chapter headquarters from President E. R. Black, of the Atlanta Trust company, Cashier W. V. Rogers, of the Citizens and Southern, and President H. Warner Martin, of the Lowry.

Other Atlanta banks will co-operate in the drive by different ways, bringing the enrollment period prominently to the attention of their depositors.

The more than 100 stores in Atlanta of the L. W. Rogers company have proffered their co-operation to the fullest extent, following a brief talk on the roll call by Miss Marion Van Dyke before the Rogers store managers on Monday afternoon.

Nearly every store manager was present, and each gladly agreed to display in his own particular field in the effort to make the L. W. Rogers company a 100 per cent enrolled institution.

A number of responses have been made to the appeal to Atlanta women to help fill the Atlanta chapter "Loan Chest" with garments and other supplies for needy mothers and their newborn babies. The need is great in this particular field of service and all who can do so are urged to send in garments for mothers and young babies to meet the urgent winter requirements.

Isolation Policy Was Basic Cause Of Slump--Cox

Former Governor of Ohio Says Loss of Foreign Market Brought Depression.

Chattanooga, Tenn., October 31.—Dissolution of the foreign market which absorbs the surplus of American industrial and agricultural production and makes for prosperity, because of the collapse of foreign exchange due to the United States governmental policy of isolation, was assigned as the reason for economic depression in the United States which started early in 1921, in an address by former Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, here tonight.

Ex-Governor Cox came here from Nashville, after a series of speeches for the state and congressional democratic candidates in western Tennessee, closing at Nashville last night. During the forenoon he visited the Hermitage, the home of Andrew Jackson, and as a result of impressions received there, gave much time tonight to extolling the virtues of "Old Hickory," drawing therefrom the cause of the depression which he ascribed to isolation.

Ex-Governor Cox said that the "business man, the farmer, and the worker every activity, early in 1921, felt much like the man who has a trapped sprang beneath his feet," said Mr. Cox. "The bottom dropped out of things. The markets of the world disappeared. We produce more than we consume and European countries cannot produce for their own needs. One-third of all we produce must be sold abroad. So that when the markets of the world closed with the collapse of exchange when America decided on a policy of isolation, the banks found themselves possessed of debts they could not collect, commonly known as 'frozen credits.' At the same time warehouses were stocked with goods whose values dropped overnight and many bankruptcies and receiverships were avoided simply because banks wrote off as losses many of the loans they had made enabled to do so by the surpluses they had accumulated during eight years of Woodrow Wilson prosperity."

Ex-Governor Cox attacked the Fordney-McCumber tariff act as setting up a wall against foreign countries unable to compete with American products, as a creator of monopolies and giving a license to profiteers who contributed to campaign funds, permitting them to "pick the pockets of the American people" and again urged American participation in the reparations settlement as the only means of re-establishing the balance of trade by which America might collect foreign debts, and enter an era of long delayed prosperity.

The former democratic presidential candidate will close his work in Tennessee with a speech tomorrow at Bristol, and in the ninth Virginia republican congressional district, and will wind up his campaign activities in Ohio with a speech Thursday night at Dayton and a round of speeches Friday and Saturday in northeastern Ohio.

THREE ARE KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Fast Express Plows Into the Rear Pullmans of a Carnival Show Special in Louisiana.

New Orleans, October 31.—Three persons were killed and five others seriously injured today when Southern Pacific passenger train No. 109 crashed into the rear of a special train carrying the C. A. Wortham shows at Adeline, La., about nine miles west of Franklin.

The dead:

William G. Jones and Homer V. Jones, brothers, of San Antonio, Texas.

R. L. Metcalf, Louisville, Ky.

The injured:

Mrs. William G. Jones, wife of one of the men killed.

Mrs. Irene Murphy.

Charles Flehr.

Frederick Miller.

Charles Jamison.

Addresses of the last four are not known.

All of the killed and injured were members of the Wortham shows. Several other people on the show train received minor bruises and scratches. None of the members of the crews of the two trains was injured.

Both trains were westbound. One of the passenger coaches used on the rear of the show train as a caboose and four others as sleeping quarters were reduced to kindling wood. The locomotive of the passenger train buried itself in the rear coach causing the four cars in front of it to telescope.

According to testimony at a coroner's inquest today, the show train was backing into a siding at Adeline when the accident occurred.

The bodies of the three men killed were shipped to their former homes tonight from Franklin. The injured are being treated at Patterson, La., where they were taken following the accident.

The show train was on its way from New Orleans to New Iberia, where the show was scheduled for today.

HALL-MILLS CASE INDICTMENT SURE

He knew that there was at least one other person who could corroborate his account of what he saw on the Phillips farm on the night of the two murders.

Knows Other Witness.

"I have been assured that Mr. Mott had no corroboration of my story. I know he has corroboration. I know that he has found at least one other person who was in de Russy's lane on the night of the murders and that this person has told Mr. Mott. Mr. Totten, and state troopers that a woman wearing a gray coat was on the farm on that night."

"This person is reputable and has supplied sufficient evidence for one or more arrests. There is more that I could say. I could give the name of the person who corroborates me, but I will not until I am permitted to do so by the authorities."

"It would be the woman I named would come forward and admit frankly that she was present when Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were killed and give whatever justification she is able to give of the charge that the murder was premeditated and not the result of a sudden quarrel, a sudden decision to use the gun and knife."

A tunnel is being constructed under the sea near Durban, South Africa, to recover treasure from a wrecked vessel.

DEFENSE RE CASE AT RER TRIAL

Philadelphia, Oct. 31.—The defense in the trial of Catherine Kioser, accused of the slaying of her husband, Oscar Kioser, and now on trial for shooting her neighbor, Miss Mildred Gerald (Beckitt), to death, at the same time closed its case after submitting a theory of "emotional insanity" for the commonwealth with a contention of showing that the defendant was sane and normal in the years just after the double slaying.

Women spectators hissed when prison guard who testified Mrs. Kioser had shown no signs of insanity and on several other occasions the unruly disposition of the operators brought warnings from Judge Barratt.

Dr. Margaret Nelson, a prison physician, testified that in her opinion Mrs. Kioser was sane, but admitted under cross-examination she had made an official report that Mrs. Kioser was subnormal and mentally deficient.

ARTHUR H. CAIN IS LODGED IN JAIL

set forth that Mrs. Cain knew her husband was only earning $225 a month as clerk in the "loss department" and charged her with "having actual or constructive knowledge of the circumstances" because it states she knew Cain had "no lawful way of obtaining the large sums."

Funds alleged to have been embezzled were deposited by Cain in the Fulton National bank under the name "W. J. Nelson." It is charged. He drew checks on the bank in the name of "Nelson," payable to Mrs. Cain, who deposited them to her own credit in the Fourth National bank. It is alleged by the company.

FREE LECTURE SERIES BY HEALTH SCHOOL

The Free School of Health will sponsor a series of free lectures by Madame M. d'Hancourt, of Zeist, Holland. She was one of the founders of the International New Thought Congress which was in session here in July. The first lecture will be given Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in assembly room No. 2, Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. In addition to her lecture Madame d'Hancourt will contribute two piano numbers.

The succeeding lectures will be given as follows: Monday night, November 5, before the 3rd Column club at Carnegie Library. She will also speak in the roof garden of the New Cecil hotel on the afternoons of Tuesday and Thursday at 8 o'clock and on the nights of Wednesday and Friday at 8 o'clock. The following are some of the subjects to be discussed: "The Religion of Joy," "Success," "What Is Healing," "What Is Truth," "How to Become a Speaker."

FATHER IN ATLANTA SEARCHING FOR SON

Paul Julian, 13, of Luxonni, Ga., R. F. D. No. 1, disappeared from home Sunday, and his father, A. S. Julian, thinks he is now in Atlanta. Mr. Julian is in the city making a search for his son, and any information concerning the boy will be greatly appreciated, he stated. The father may be reached at the address given above.

Now Comes Apple Week.

National Apple week began Tuesday and the slogan of "An apple a day will keep the doctor away" has been adopted to encourage public observance. It is said that there are 107 different ways of serving apples and that matured apples will be eliminated if the old adage is heeded.

elevators, would be uneconomical from every standpoint of the pupil and the community.

Dr. Kirkland declared that the health and proper well-being of the girls demanded a large area for the school. "We've long since ceased to believe that the function of a school is to hammer a little book learning into a child's head," he said.

She urged the Grant park site, with its natural surroundings, as ideal, stating that the tendency now is to build "cityfied" schools, exalting of the artificial and fear of the natural."

Colonel Hall asserted that the district near the proposed school is known as the "five points" of the south side and is supplied with street car service superior to nearly any other section of the city.

INDORSE ALSTON FOR U. S. BENCH

Harding will appoint a democrat to this place, as there are comparatively few democrats on the supreme court bench at present.

President Foote, of the chamber of commerce, also wired Washington Tuesday commending the appointment of Mr. Alston. Friends of Mr. Alston in Atlanta and elsewhere in the state are energetic in their efforts to secure appointment and President Z. D. Harrison, of the Georgia Bar association, is known to have personally expressed to Mr. Alston a desire to see him in this position.

JURORS HOLD FATE OF MINISTER SLAYER

These for Thy goodness, Thy love, Thy mercy.

"We are arraigned before an earthly court. We will stand before the strength in this hour. Bless these jurymen; bless their homes; bless their children—guide them and care for them. And bless the prosecution; bless his wife. Save him from sin. Save me from the devil. We ask for Jesus' sake."

"Gentlemen of the jury, it is indeed painful to me as well as humiliating, after having stood before a multitude of people and preached the gospel of Jesus Christ, to come before you in this hour."

"They make contradictory statements. They warp and twist my statements to their own satisfaction and leave me to take care of the matter, if I can."

"On desire you will remember is within my mind at this time. It is to enforce the law, the law made by the great majority of persons, and I give this to the court and the jury. Absolutely do I believe in strict enforcement of civil law, wherein there is no just basis upon which the prosecution may justify their act."

"Thou shalt not commit adultery. I married a wife in all confidence of her integrity. I fully believed her to be a virtuous girl. I proposed marriage to her because I loved her. I loved her like you loved your wife. I married her. They treated me like a lord."

"My father-in-law there (pointing his finger at Mr. B. Dixon)—I am as much kin to him as I ever was—I love you as much as I ever did."

"He bought enough gasoline to fill a whole station and hauled me all over Bulloch county, and sought to win me into marrying his daughter. He set the trap and baited me—and I loved her like you loved your wife. I married her. They treated me like a lord."

"I bought the second license, (having lost the first) marrying his daughter and took her away."

"I married my wife with tears running down her cheeks, and she told me her own mother beat her over her head until blood ran over her face because of the fact that she was jealous of her own daughter's beauty."

Through his entire sermon, Padrick at no time mentioned his motive in slaying his wife and mother-in-law. Attorneys state he would have touched on this had he been allowed to continue. However, before he got as far as his motive in the slaying he was interrupted by the judge. However, on other occasions, stated that "the hand of God directed me in the slaying, and the hand of God will guide me before the bar of justice."

Five Dead, Nine Hurt, When Tanks Explode After Autos Collide

Manila, P. I., October 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Five persons were burned to death and nine fatally injured last night in a fire that followed the explosion of a gasoline tank of a mail truck and a private automobile when the two collided head on near Bacod. All the victims were Filipinos, nine being teachers and public school pupils.

COUNTERFEIT GANG LEADER ARRESTED

operations are said to have centered principally in Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and Tennessee, with Mobile and Atlanta as headquarters. He was placed under arrest and later signed a confession in which he admitted complicity in several bogus money transactions.

Considered Dangerous.

In spite of his youth, Johnson is regarded as one of the most dangerous counterfeiters in the United States, agents of the secret service declared. His work in raising $1 bank notes to higher denominations, is said to be almost perfect in the pattern used, being that of the "pick variety." This includes an additional numeral or cipher being picked with a needle or pin on the face of the bill, giving it the appearance of a higher denomination.

Johnson is said to be the leader or "boss" of the gang of which he is said to be "laying low" in fear of apprehension, since their operations here last month were successful.

Johnson was arraigned before United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter and on his plea of guilty was bound over to the United States court. In his conference he admitted a number of bogus money deals and declared that he had masqueraded under the names of "Swift," Johnson, W. H. Harris, C. S. Wilson, H. Roberts, H. Jackson and other aliases. He was locked in the Fulton gaol, awaiting action of the federal grand jury.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY PROSPECTS GROW

Report From All Sections Reflect People's Disquiet With "Do-Nothing" Congress.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, October 31.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—With election day almost at hand, prospects for a great democratic victory have been reported from all sections of the country. Bright from the beginning of the campaign, democratic leaders declare their chances for making sweeping gains next Tuesday are highly encouraging, and point to admissions from administration leaders that the republican majority of 108 in the house will be cut down to 30 or 40.

This alone, it is said, would be a far-reaching democratic victory, but leaders declare it to be much greater than that.

In the president's home state, Ohio, indications are that the reactionary republicans will come in for a severe trimming. Everything, it is said, points to the re-election of Senator Fomerene, democrat, by an emphatic majority, while the election of the state ticket and a democratic representation in the next house is considered likely.

Situation Summarized.

A survey of the manufacturing sections of New England prompts the belief among many at the capital that the democratic victory will be swelled, despite republican claims, and the outlook for support from the agricultural sections of those states is said to be gratifying to the minority leaders. Compiled from reports of special observers sent out over the country to take political soundings, democratic managers at the capital have made a summary of the situation which they declare is indicative of the results to be expected next week. The farmer has been described as truly "gritting his teeth and biding his time," and the same reports assert that in the great business centers business men are turning to the democratic party for relief from the "odious" Fordney-McCumber tariff, which has begun to threaten business everywhere, it is said.

Leading Issues.

In almost every state, according to the report, the campaign has been fought out upon the leading domestic issues of tariff and taxation, at which the people are declared to have arrived at an understanding by sad experience as well as educational propaganda.

The causes include "extravagant expenditures and reckless appropriations, the inefficiency and incompetency of the existing congress and the failure of both the congress and the administration to keep their election promises; Newberryism and Goldsteinism and the lesser scandals that have disgraced the legislative and administrative ability of the party in power."

A large part of the Iowa conservative republicans were found to be in revolt against the extreme radicalism of Brookhart, it was said, adding that the republican opposition to Pinchot in Pennsylvania and Brookhart in Iowa, will contribute their share to the general democratic victory.

People Disgusted.

"In the last extremity republicans of the stripe of Phil Campbell, of Kansas, who has just been repudiated by the republicans of his own congressional district, are seeking to make it appear that the democrats are not trying to carry the house. This, of course, is pure mendacity and one of the last ruses of an already defeated old guard organization. The signs of democratic victory are everywhere apparent. The people are disgusted with the republican "do nothing" congress and dissatisfied with the shiftless, drifting course of the administration. They will make that disgust and dissatisfaction manifest at the polls on November 7."

BLOOD-STAINED AUTO CLUE IN MURDER CASE

Cleveland, Ohio, October 31.—Following the finding of more than 100 bloodstains on the car of Henry J. Burns, whose wife's mutilated body was found buried in a shallow grave near Painesville last Wednesday, Sheriff Spink announced tonight he had discovered another important link of evidence.

Joseph Lennon, of near Painesville, brought to the sheriff today a sheet of paper apparently torn from a "time book," stained with bloody finger prints and bearing several names, which, he said, he found near the scene of the murder Sunday.

On the paper, the sheriff said, were three full names, one address and five first names followed by initial letters. Spink and his deputies declared they were investigating it from three angles—in the hope of identifying the fingerprints, locating the persons whose names are on the paper for their possible assistance in shedding light on the identity of the murderer and the motive.

Burns is now held in jail at Painesville, charged with first degree murder. He maintains his innocence.

Omaha, Neb.—A Halloween prank cost the life of Edward Jasda, 17, last night. He was electrocuted when he attached a wire to a gate which he and five companions carried to a street intersection, and attempted to suspend it from an arc light wire.

CLARA PHILLIPS 'MORON,' DECLARES DEFENSE LAWYER

Los Angeles, Cal., October 31.—Mrs. Clara Phillips is a "moron," "subject to epileptic convulsions" and has the "mentality of a child," her attorney, Bertram Herrington, declared today in opening the defense in her trial for the murder of Mrs. Albert Meadows.

The attorney asserted he would prove that the defendant did not wield the hammer with which the state contends Mrs. Meadows was beaten to death on July 12. He declared it would be shown that Mrs. Phillips' actions on that day were "guided by 'Peggie Caffee,' prosecution witness, who testified she saw Mrs. Phillips striking Mrs. Meadows."

The state rested after examining Lester Atkins, who corroborated Mrs. Caffee's statement that he and a man named Gentry met Mrs. Caffee and Mrs. Phillips at Long Beach a few hours before the slaying. He said the women came to his apartment and Gentry and Mrs. Phillips went out and returned with a pint bottle of whiskey, of which all four partook. He said he and Gentry drove the women to Los Angeles. Mrs. Phillips carrying with her the bottle and what remained of its contents.

Herrington declared he would show that Mrs. Meadows was slain after an altercation and fight between her and Mrs. Phillips, in which the latter's little finger was practically broken and she appealed to Mrs. Caffee for aid. It was Mrs. Caffee, he asserted, who bought the hammer, not Mrs. Phillips.

After the slaying, he added, Mrs. Phillips went to a hotel and wrote there told by her husband that "something awful" had happened and she must go to Texas at once. Phillips, he said, got her some money and she started east.

HARDING RESERVES PLUMS FOR LOSERS

Such Is Opinion of Observers, Noting Slowness of Presidential Filling of Important Posts.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, October 31.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Delay of President Harding in making several pending executive appointments has given rise to the belief that most of the office will be filled until after the November elections. Critics of the administration have been profuse in the charge lately that republican leaders are making out the appointments as rewards for energetic action during the campaign and as a stimulus to politicians.

The record shows that there are several of the choicest plums of the administration going begging. Some of them have been awaiting appointments for months, an example of which is found in the two vacancies on the federal reserve board.

Although Governor W. P. G. Harding's term expired August 9, no decision has been announced by the white house. Likewise, the additional member, created by an act of congress early in the summer, has not yet been selected, although the president has let it be known that he will follow the wishes of congress and appoint a "dirt farmer."

Judgeships Vacant.

The same situation is said to prevail in the selection of the several additional federal judges created under the judiciary bill. Charges have been made that President Harding is delaying the appointments, not all of which have been made, until the crucial November 7 is passed. Otherwise, it is pointed out, no traction would be offered for industrious party workers.

Chief interest has been centered upon the vacancy on the supreme court bench caused by the recent resignation of Associate Justice Day. Reliable reports having it that a democrat will be given the place, it would naturally follow that the president will, even then, make an appointment that would tend to serve his party best.

Nothing, it is pointed out, could better serve this purpose than to wait until after the November elections and appoint Senator Shields, of Tennessee. This would assure republicans of another seat in the senate, as Tennessee, from having a republican governor, would quite naturally send to the senate some one of republican faith.

Good For Two Years.

Senator Shields' successor would be good for a two-year term, even though the state returned to the democratic column this year. And by delaying the supreme court appointment for a few more days, Tennesseeans would not have the opportunity of electing his successor until the next general election in that state, which is two years off.

President Harding, observers believe, has this course in view. Rumors from the white house that Senator Shields will be tendered the place, combined with the knowledge of the esteem in which he is held by Mr. Harding, tend to strengthen the contention. Another thing pointed to is that in hardly any other state could the coup be as successfully worked out.

While several southern democrats have been mentioned for the appointment, among whom is Governor Hardwick, of Georgia, the Tennessee senator is said to hold the inside track, due, in part, to the circumstances given.

May Be For Losers.

A long-standing belief that is also held in connection with major appointments is that the president is holding the jobs open for republican senatorial casualties of the election. Having served in the senate, he naturally has warm personal friends there whom he would like to take care of, in the event they are thrown out of office, it is asserted.

The early primaries resulted in several "lame ducks," and the national elections are scheduled to increase the list. The president, it is said, would like to find places for all of them, if possible.

Incidentally, President Harding's recent designation of Governor Harding to assist the Cubans in the organization of their finances is looked upon as a further indication that the federal reserve board head will not be re-appointed. Otherwise, observers declare, the mission, described as one of honor, would have been delegated to some one else.

U. S. IS LIKELY TO JOIN WORLD JUSTICE COURT

Washington, October 31.—Negotiations were said at the white house today to be in progress looking toward American government representation on the international court of justice, which was created under the treaty of Versailles.

Elaborating on the reference made by Secretary Hughes in his Boston address last night to possible participation by the United States in the affairs of the court, white house officials said the administration was inclined favorably toward the court. The only bar to American representation, it was indicated, was the matter of selection by the United States government of its representative on the court, but it was added that this feature appeared capable of satisfactory negotiation.

The United States government in taking this stand, it was emphasized, meant no reflection on John Bassett Moore, the American now sitting on the court but felt that the government at all times should have its direct representative.

New York.—Nine men charged with the theft of more than $100,000 worth of bonded whiskey from Pershing warehouse, Brooklyn, were held in $5,000 bail each for examination November 3, when arraigned in magistrate's court today. They pleaded not guilty.

GIRL WATER STAR, LURED INTO AUTO, GONE FROM HOME

Muskegon, Mich., October 31.—An all day search failed today to reveal the whereabouts of 12-year-old Rosaline Shanty, the "swimming girl," who disappeared after attending Sunday school last Sunday. City and county officers, aided by Boy Scouts, combed the nearby resort districts without finding a trace of the girl.

The authorities tonight declared they believed the girl was taken away by a man who had witnessed her fancy swimming exhibition at a local beach last summer and had either become infatuated with the child or planned to train her for a circus or stage career. Officials in Chicago and other cities were today enlisted in the search.

Many residents, however, expressed the belief the girl was spirited away by a degenerate and feeling was so high tonight that officials took steps to avert disorder should the man be found.

Rosaline, who appears much older than 12, and who was unusually attractive, was induced to enter an automobile driven by a man who had asked two boys to point out to him "the swimming girl." As the car sped away from the beach, the girl began to cry, and the man was said to have told her she would "never see her mother again." Previously the same man had driven to Rosaline's home and asked her mother's permission to take her out for dinner "with a little girl she knew at the beach."

To Question Wife Of Man Who Died Of Poisoned Cake

Philadelphia, October 31.—Mrs. W. W. Sterrett will be questioned further by authorities regarding her movements 24 hours before the poisoned cake, which caused the death of her husband, an expert accountant, of Devon, and her own serious illness, was received, it was announced tonight. Coroner William Neville, of Montgomery county, said today there are many points regarding the sending and receiving of the death cake which are not clear.

"I feel certain that information which would solve the case is being withheld," said the coroner. "There are many points about it that do not jibe."

Investigators pointed out that the box containing the poisoned pastry was mailed within a stone's throw of Mr. Sterrett's office.

Presbyterian Pastor Put Out of Ministry; Immorality Charged

York, S. C., October 31.—Rev. A. E. Miller, former pastor of the Liberty Hill Southern Presbyterian church in Kershaw county, today was expelled from the ministry by the Bethel Presbyterian in special session here. The Presbytery met today, to hear the report of a special committee appointed to investigate charges of immorality against the minister. Rev. Miller was present. He offered no defense.

The Presbytery, although expelling the defendant from the ministry, left the door open for his reinstatement at some time in the future if his conduct warrants it, it was said.

WOULD-BE BANDIT FOILED BY CASHIER

Owensboro, Ky., October 31.—The wit of a young, masked bandit was no match for that of M. J. Holbrook, cashier of the Bank of Whitesville, late today.

The bandit, about 20 years old, entered the bank about closing time.

He wore a handkerchief over the lower part of his face and advanced upon the cashier with a pistol in his hand. Instead of obeying a command to hold his hands above his head, Holbrook dropped to the floor, seized a convenient firearm and fired five shots through the counter. The bandit fled. The bank counter still the vault held $15,000.

MASONS TO KEEP HANDS OFF KLAN

Out of Place to Molest K. K. K. Here, Says Grand Master at Macon Communication.

Macon, Ga., October 31.—(Special.) Upon the advice of the grand master of the grand lodge of Georgia, Masons attending the 136th annual communication of that body will keep hands off the Ku Klux Klan, it became known tonight.

The grand master, John P. Bowdoin, of Adairville, Ga., in his annual address before the delegates at the city hall auditorium this morning, said that while the Ku Klux Klan organization had received attention in a number of other jurisdictions, he thought it out of place to attempt to molest that organization here. He held that a man had a right to join anything so long as he remained a good citizen.

The address of the grand master was the feature of the opening session of the grand lodge. The greatest crowd in the history of the organization was in attendance, more than 1,200 delegates, representing 693 subordinate lodges in Georgia.

Just before adjournment of the first session, under a special order, the doors of the grand lodge opened to 230 children from the Masonic Orphan home in North Highlands. They marched to the stage, being preceded by an American flag, carried by a member of the order.

On the stage the children sang a number of songs, the song leader being W. J. Royal, of Irwinville, Ga., for 50 years a member of the Irwinville lodge. Mr. Royal, with his flowing gray hair, showed considerable ability as a song leader. The singing made a wonderful impression upon the delegates.

One of the most important matters of this afternoon was the consideration of the selection of a superintendent for the Masonic Orphan home. Names of eight or ten men considered competent for the place were under consideration of the board of trustees. The board met at 4 o'clock this afternoon. At 6 o'clock tonight the board adjourned to meet again tomorrow. No choice having been announced.

Officers Report.
Reports of Frank F. Baker, grand secretary, and of James M. Rushin, grand treasurer, were the only other matters presented to the grand lodge this morning. Tonight there was another session at which reports of different committees appointed at the morning session were submitted. The balance of the reports will be turned in tomorrow morning.

The election of officers will take place tomorrow morning as the first order of business, these being J. E. Sheppard, senior grand warden, and H. K. Palmer, third grand steward. It is customary for the grand lodge to advance the officers who are in line for promotion, although that is not compulsory, it is stated. Across the street from the city hall, at the headquarters of the Al Sibah Temple of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, the members of the Order of Eastern Star, served lunches today to visiting delegates. Banquets, dinners and many other things were served. This service will continue during today. All of the downtown restaurants and hotels did a rushing business because of the big crowd.

Governor-elect Clifford Walker, representing the lodge at Monroe, is a delegate to the meeting of the grand lodge. N. H. Ballard, new superintendent of schools for Georgia, is a delegate from Brunswick; George M. Napier, attorney-general, and past grand master of the grand lodge, is here from Atlanta; W. S. Richardson, tax collector of Fulton county, who is now senior grand warden, is here and in line for promotion to the position of grand master. Five other new lodges are Tompkins, Fort Oglethorpe; Oakland City, Augusta; John Conas, Barley; Free State, Carrollton, and Oliver lodge, at Oliver, Ga.

CITY MANAGERS TO BE ELECTED AT CORDELE, GA.

Cordele, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—The city executive committee has called an election for November 14 to elect five commissioners for the new form of government ratified by a special election held in September. There are six candidates for the five places. G. C. Lewis, W. A. Thompson, L. J. Roobin, J. M. Diffe, W. P. Markert and D. Holmes.

One special feature of the new system is the rule made by the city executive committee not to allow any candidate to ask a voter to vote for him nor to promise anyone an office or employment after he is elected a commissioner. If a candidate violates this rule he is disqualified by the executive committee even if he receives the highest number of votes.

POLITICS WARM UP IN AMERICUS RACE

Americus, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Americus municipal politics are getting more lively every day, with four candidates in the field for mayor and six candidates for alderman. Only three aldermanic places are to be filled. Candidates for mayor are O. C. Johnson, C. J. Clark, E. L. Bell and J. Elmore Poole, while those seeking aldermanic places are H. M. Stokes, W. E. Carswell, H. L. Mize, S. L. Hammond, E. J. Witt and W. E. Mitchell. Chief interest centers in the mayoralty contests. Fourteen hundred Americus voters have already registered. Among those are a large number of women. The registration books will close Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

MACON MAY DRAIN NEARBY SWAMPS; SURVEY IS MADE

Macon, Ga., October 31.—(Special.) It will cost $38,000 to drain the swamps around Macon that have been responsible for most of the malaria, typhoid and dengue fever, according to a group of sanitary engineers and health experts who made a survey of local conditions today at the request of Dr. C. L. Ridley, city health officer. Two years will be required to complete the work.

In the party making the survey today were Dr. Ridley, Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, state commissioner of health; H. C. Woodruff, chief of the sanitary division of the state board of health; W. B. Alford, representative of the DuPont Powder company; Dr. A. H. Rozar and C. M. Renfro, explosives contractor.

Dr. Abercrombie said the work is necessary and that steps should be taken to have it done. Mr. Woodruff expressed the same opinion. They both returned to Atlanta this afternoon.

COMPANY FORMED BY CHATTOOGANS TO BORE FOR OIL

Summerville, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Chattooga and Walker county citizens see great fortunes piling up before them. The cause of it is the discovery of what is thought to be oil in McLeomore's Cove, near the Chattooga-Walker county line, northwest of here. Geologists have encouraged the promoters by telling them that all indications point to oil, and that the results of their tests show oil as strongly as any of the famous Oklahoma and Texas oil fields.

The McLeomore Cove Oil company has been formed to develop the business. It is understood this company has already purchased approximately 10,000 acres of land in the cove on a commercial oil lease and will begin drilling for oil as soon as arrangements can be completed.

Boatwright to Take Oath Today as Southern U. S. District Attorney

Macon, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Fred C. Boatwright, of Cordele, will take the oath of office as United States district attorney for the southern district of Georgia tomorrow morning. Mr. Boatwright arrived here today and at once began going over the business of the office with Bascom Deaver, assistant district attorney.

Mr. Boatwright was recently appointed to succeed John W. Bennett, of Waycross, whose resignation tendered last May was recently accepted by President Harding. He said today he contemplated establishing his residence in Macon, but had not definitely decided. He said Macon would be his headquarters, however, but if he found business demanded it, he would stay here.

Associated with Mr. Boatwright in the district attorney's office are Charles L. Redding, of Savannah; Charles E. Donnelly, of Savannah; and Bascom Deaver, of Macon. These three were assistants to Mr. Bennett and Mr. Boatwright said he does not contemplate any change in his staff at present.

Unidentified Man Commits Suicide With Pistol Ball

Savannah, Ga., October 31.—City detectives were today attempting to fix the identity of a white man who, shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, staggered along a much-used street in the working district of the city, pulled a revolver from his hip pocket and, before any of the belated pedestrian workers could stop him, put a bullet through his brain, falling to the pavement dead.

Hallam Singer.
Lumpkin, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Hallam Singer, who died at his home in Lumpkin Saturday evening, funeral was held Monday morning. Mr. Singer's illness was contracted during his service in the world war. Besides his parents Mr. and Mrs. John L. Singer, he is survived by his widow and three small children, all of Lumpkin; one sister and three brothers, these being Miss Lennie Singer, of Macon; Lewis Singer, of Columbus; Hubert Singer, of Miami, and Luther Singer, of Jacksonville.

Does Your Head Ache? ARE YOU DIZZY? DESPONDENT? Wonderful Relief Is Here Told

Atlanta, Ga.—"About a year ago I was preparing to go to the hospital to die. Had been sick and suffering two years, had dizzy spells, suffered from headache, constipation and a despondent feeling all the time. Had tried many different remedies and got no better. I got to a drug store one day and was talking to the druggist about my condition. He handed me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and said, 'I think that will help you.' Before I had taken all of that one bottle I felt like a new woman. Now I can say, along with thousands of other women, that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription cured me."—Mrs. G. W. Tidwell, 67 Hampton St.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has made many women happy by making them healthy. Get it at once from your nearest druggist, in either liquid or tablet form. Write Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.—(adv.)

A Few Statements About the White Provision Company

The White Provision Company is offering for subscription by the general public, $400,000.00 capital stock, which will complete the increased issue, authorized by the stockholders January 26th, 1922, bringing the capital of the Company up to $1,000,000.00.

This stock will not be placed in the hands of brokers, but in common with previous issues, will be sold direct by the Company, through a Committee, consisting of the following members of the Board of Directors: E. S. Papy, Asa G. Candler, Jr., Arthur Heyman, and W. H. White, Jr., Chairman, and on terms as above stated. The Committee will be glad to answer any inquiries and will furnish you with full and complete information on any subject pertaining to the Company, or this issue of stock, upon request.

The White Provision Company is a well-known Georgia Corporation, with headquarters, general offices and packing house located in Atlanta. The personnel of this organization is made up of men who are well known in the City of Atlanta, the State of Georgia, and the South. The investing public and all parties interested can easily obtain reliable technical information pertaining to the Company and the character and standing of its officers and directors from any bank or trust company in Atlanta, or any commercial agency.

The purpose of this issue is to provide adequate plant facilities to enable the White Provision Company to handle the increased volume of live stock coming to this market, and upon completion of the new buildings, some of which are now in the course of construction, the capacity of the plant will be more than doubled, and the Company will be able to extend its trade throughout the South and East, thereby supplying a demand for our products which we have not heretofore been able to reach.

The Company buys its live stock, cattle, sheep, and hogs locally and throughout the South and manufactures a complete line of high-class packing house products.

The vast quantity of raw materials, mostly cattle and hogs, purchased by this Company are grown mainly on the farms of this state, thereby we are sustaining the fundamentals of our home independence, and building a worthy Georgia enterprise, investing our money and energies in the agricultural development of this state, and in doing so, we are contributing to the industrial and educational development of our City and State. We furnish the farmers a ready cash market for their live stock, our purchases from Georgia farmers alone this year will exceed a million dollars.

We are spending large amounts in Atlanta, and Georgia for supplies entering into operation of our plant. We pay out more than $25,000.00 annually for boxes made in Atlanta, used in packing "Cornfield" hams and bacon; $10,000.00 is spent for cotton cloth used in wrapping "Cornfield" hams and bacon. We use many carloads of Georgia hickory wood in making "Cornfield" hams and bacon. We pay out more than $25,000.00 annually for paper containers made in Atlanta, used in our sausage packing department. Another $25,000.00 is paid for lard pails and cans, made in Atlanta.

These expenditures for supplies and many others, too numerous to mention, amounting to many additional thousands of dollars, help to keep our home labor employed and our home plants going.

Our products are sold direct to the wholesale and retail trade throughout the state, the packing house wholesale market handling the Atlanta city business, being the largest distributing branch.

The Company owns and operates its own private refrigerator cars, known as the White Refrigerator Line, in which its products are shipped to its selling agencies located in the principal cities of the state.

The demand for White Provision Company's products is greater than ever before. The superior quality of the products produced has created this demand, until today our plant is taxed beyond its capacity in many of its departments and it is necessary that enlargements be made in order that we keep pace with the live stock development in this state and measure up to our responsibility, which we have assumed as leaders in this industry.

The Company has a splendid force of loyal and efficient employees, many of whom have been with the Company since its organization. Many of the department foremen are men who began with us as students. A large per cent of the employees own stock in the Company, the number buying stock increasing every year.

The executives whom the stockholders placed at the head of this business when organized are its officers at this date.

The White Provision Company has no outstanding bonds, or preferred stock, the entire assets of this Company are owned by the common stockholders. The Company has paid a cash dividend each year since its organization, averaging better than 8%.

The White Provision Company was organized in 1906, with a capital stock of $50,000.00 and a good idea of the growth and stability of the Company can be had from the following comparative statement of sales, earnings, cash dividends paid and slaughter of live stock, together with the condensed financial statement shown below.

Remington No. 12

The Quiet Typewriter

The New Model 12 Remington is the herald of a new era in typewriting.

It is quiet in operation. And it has been made so without the slightest impairment of the speed, ease of operation and dependability which are essential in a first-class writing machine.

This problem of achieving relative silence, combined with the full measure of Remington efficiency, was not solved in a day. The New Model 12 is the product of years of continuous laboratory work by Remington Engineers—the most skilled and experienced in the typewriter world. As a physician listens with his stethoscope, so these engineers listened to every “click,” every “hum,” every sound produced in the act of typing and experimented with every possible means for transforming noise into silence.

The result is a crowning triumph in typewriter construction; a machine which retains every basic Remington feature, every quality for which the Remington is famous, every distinctive Remington improvement, including the famous self-starter and the equally celebrated “natural touch,” and in addition no less than

14 noise-eliminating features

The sum of these improvements is a degree of silence that enables the busy business man to think and work without distraction, even though the machine is also working at his elbow.

The price of this new Model 12 Remington, with “A” carriage is $110—just $7.50 more than the Standard machine—a $7.50 premium for quiet.

Under conditions where quiet is not essential, we continue to recommend our Standard Correspondence Machine—the Improved Self-Starting Remington—the typewriter that is making “natural touch” famous, the machine that has made automatic indenting an accomplished fact.

Please call and see and listen to the new Remington No. 12 or phone us for a demonstration.

*A good typewriter deserves a good ribbon. Paragon ribbons—made by us
75 cents each, $7 a dozen*

Some of the 14 Noise-Eliminating Features of New No. 12 Remington

A new cushioned cylinder which gives clean cut originals and carbons—and is Quiet.

A new type of bail which prevents any air chamber between paper and cylinder and takes another “click” out of typewriting.

A new method of eliminating noise from the escapement. The escapement dog strikes against a spring instead of solid metal. The result is Quiet.

A new cable-anvil, made of finest piano wire, spiraled in two directions. In reality it is a shock absorber for the type mechanism—and it is Quiet.

The body of the machine is enclosed in sound proof plates—Quiet.

Even the slight noise caused by the type falling back in the basket has been reduced.

Eight other sound-reducing features complete this great Remington contribution to quiet—and every advantage which quiet confers on a business office.

Man Assaulted On Way Home From Festival

Drunken Man Demands the Loan of Halloween Costume. Girl Defends Escort.

L. F. Kelley, a young man living on the Howell Mill road, was Tuesday recovering from severe bruises and cuts resulting from an attack on him by an unknown man Monday night who was attempting to secure the loan of Kelley's Halloween party costume.

According to the young man, he had attended a party and at the time of encountering his assailant, he and a young lady were going down West Peachtree street for the purpose of getting supper. The man approached, asking where the party was being held. Believing he was drunk, Kelley evaded the question, finally giving a fictitious address.

The man continued to follow Kelley, however, and presently began demanding that Kelley loan him "the ball room suit." This Kelley refused to do, and the man struck him on the back of the head, knocking him down, and as he attempted to rise, struck him in the nose, cutting through his lips and painfully injuring him.

Kelley's assailant, it was said, had alighted from a high-powered automobile, and upon his attack on Kelley, a number of companions alighted from the car and some gathered around the man who was being attacked, in an effort to stop the fight.

Kelley received treatment at Grady hospital. Police began investigations but no arrests had been made Tuesday.

CONTRACT IS LET BY M'LIN COTTON MILLS AT ROME

Rome, Ga., October 31.—(Special.) The contract for the buildings of the McLin Cotton mills, a concern recently organized here, was let to J. F. Dupree & Sons Co., a local concern. The capital of the mills company, $150,000, was subscribed almost wholly in Rome and is all paid up. The mills will be in charge of C. E. McLin, at present head of the Anchor Duck mills of this city.

More than 400 persons will be employed and special fabrics and heavy duck will be manufactured. All the machinery has been purchased and will be ready for installation when the buildings are completed, which is expected to be late in the spring of 1933.

This will be the sixth large cotton mill now located in Rome. The total number of employees with the new mill will exceed 5,000. The directors of the new concern include some of the city's leading business men.

Wilson Is Pleased By Macon Ovation, He Tells Senator

Former President Woodrow Wilson was highly gratified at the receipt of news that he was given a great ovation at the recent Macon convention, and expressed his pleasure over this ovation in a telegram sent Tuesday to United States Senator William J. Harris.

Senator Harris had sent a telegram to the president, in which he informed him of the ovation given him at Macon. Following is the telegram sent to Senator Harris by Mr. Wilson:

Hon. William J. Harris, Atlanta, Ga.—Thank you very warmly for your cheering message. It is very gratifying to feel myself associated with democracy as enthusiastic as I am for the cause.

WOODROW WILSON.

C. Murphey Candler Ends Eleventh Year As Commission Head

Chairman C. Murphey Candler, of the Georgia public service commission, founded over 11 years as head of the state body Tuesday, the longest term any chairman since the commission was created.

Mr. Candler became chairman of the commission November 11, 1911. He has served 13 years as a member of the commission. On January 1 he will retire from office. In length of service he is exceeded by only one former member, the term of the late L. M. Frazar, of Dalton, extending through 14 years.

DUBLIN MAN TO JOIN BELLE ISLE COMPANY

Growth of Business Made Larger Organization Necessary, Says Belle Isle.

A. L. Belle Isle, authorized Lincoln, Ford and Packard dealer, becomes the Belle Isle-Street company today, according to an announcement made yesterday by Mr. Belle Isle. The new member of the firm is E. S. Street, formerly of Dublin, Ga., but now of Atlanta.

In making this announcement yesterday Mr. Belle Isle said: "Our business is expanding so rapidly and the Lincoln, Ford and Packard business is growing to such enormous proportions, that an expansion of my old company was deemed imperative. Mr. Street has been in the Ford business, having owned and operated Ford accounts at both Dublin and McKees. He has moved to Atlanta and will enter this company on November 1. Mr. Street will look after the financial end of the business and the inside work, while I will have the opportunity to devote my entire time to the sales end. We believe that our plan will work out to the best interests of everyone concerned, and are expecting great things of this business."

Mr. Street has been prominent in the business life of Dublin for years. He is owner of the largest wholesale grocery house in Dublin and is also a director in the First National bank of Dublin. Mr. Street has owned and operated Ford agencies at Dublin and McKees for the past eight years and will retain his holdings in them, although he will not be active in their management.

At the same time that the new firm takes over the Belle Isle business, according to Mr. Belle Isle, an all-night service policy will be inaugurated. The service station will remain open 24 hours each day and "pull-in" service will be maintained at all times, while the parts department will also remain open at night.

HEAD OF MAYONNAISE FACTORY VISITS CITY

Former Columbus Woman Makes Much-Sought Discovery—Builds Business.

A remarkable achievement long sought by New York and Parisian chefs—that of a method of packaging genuine home-made mayonnaise so that it would keep indefinitely—has been left to a native daughter of Columbus, Ga., who is now in Atlanta giving retail grocers "sales hints" on her product.

At the home-made mayonnaise, made by Mrs. H. C. Duke, is the result of years of study, and is the only fresh egg, home-made mayonnaise on the market that will keep its original freshness for months. Mrs. Duke declares. For years scientists and chefs all over the country have been trying vainly to devise a method by which genuine home-made mayonnaise could be put up in glass or metal containers so as to keep indefinitely.

Probably no task is so troublesome as to the housewife as to make mayonnaise. The long, tedious search for all the ingredients, the constant beating of eggs and oil and just the right seasoning—all these factors enter into the making of mayonnaise. And even when everything has been done perfectly sometimes "it turns"—and the whole job has to be started over again. Mayonnaise, not cooked dressing, but the fresh egg, uncooked home-made kind, has to be made every few days, and up until Mrs. Duke's discovery was the housewife's bane of existence.

Factory Built.

Just a little less than a year ago the news spread abroad of Mrs. Duke's discovery, and since that time it has been necessary to build a factory up in Greenville, S. C., to take care of the orders that are pouring in for this new mayonnaise. Atlanta women have almost abandoned making mayonnaise altogether and at present are consuming over a carload of Duke's every month, or considerably over 30,000 jars.

During the war Mrs. Duke served between 8,000 and 10,000 sandwiches daily to the troops at Camp Sevier. The deliciousness of these sandwiches, due to the quality and consistency of her mayonnaise, were so popular with the doughboys that her fame as a cook spread from the southeastern states over the entire country.

Now that Mrs. Duke has finally been able to put up her famous mayonnaise so that it could be shipped was not only hailed joyfully by former doughboys who had returned to their homes all over the country, it is said, but by thousands of housewives who know the inconvenience and trouble of making mayonnaise every few days.

Mrs. Duke personally supervises the making of her mayonnaise just as she did before it had gained such favor throughout the entire south. Her mayonnaise is the only fresh egg, uncooked mayonnaise on the market that will keep indefinitely, and it is being sold the country over, from Washington to Miami.

From Atlanta Mrs. Duke will go to Jacksonville, where her product has proved extremely popular.

Police Bringing Boyish Bandits Back to Atlanta

Parents Blame Older Men for Southern Shop Pay Roll Theft.

Accused of appropriating $3,000 belonging to railway workers at the Southern shops, two youths, Hubert Puckett, 14, of 90 Dodd avenue, and Victor Palmer, 16, of 85 Dodd avenue, were arrested Tuesday in Anniston, Ala.

The boys disappeared Monday after they had cashed forty payroll checks for workmen at the Southern railway shops. At the time of their arrest they had more than $70 in cash, and $700 worth of railroad checks in their possession. When captured they were riding in a new Ford roadster which they purchased, the authorities say, with part of the money intrusted to them.

The youths denied, according to the Anniston police, that the checks aggregated $3,000. They claim they paid $445 for the car, and spent very little for knick knacks.

At first the police had thought the two had met with foul play when they did not return to the shops Monday. The police were notified and began a statewide search.

The workmen at the shops had entrusted their checks to the boys for safekeeping. The police, and had much confidence in them.

Mr. Puckett, father of one of the boys, went to Anniston Tuesday in company with city detectives who will bring the pair back to Atlanta. He was quoted as saying that his boys were led astray by older men.

MURDER IS CHARGED IN SOLDIER'S DEATH

Grand Jury Indicts Private Brown for the Murder of Private Quinn.

The Fulton county grand jury Tuesday returned an indictment charging murder against J. O. Brown, a Fort McPherson soldier, who is alleged to have stabbed G. F. Quinn, also a soldier, last week. Quinn died two days after he was injured. Brown is being held in the Fulton county tower, being turned over to the state authorities by the army officials.

The stabbing is said to have resulted from an argument over a girl. Other indictments were returned by the grand jury Tuesday as follows:

George Butler, ex-breaker; Sidney Birdson and Ralph Lee, larceny of automobile; George Davis and Robert Singleton, burglary; D. E. Grogan, assault to rape; Jim Harris, misdemeanor; C. H. Hood, larceny of automobile; J. Harrison, alias J. R. Butler, larceny of automobile; Frank North, larceny from house; Alton Stanfield and Cecil Harlow, larceny.

Porter to Address Forget-Me-Not Day Chairmen's Meeting

Dr. H. A. Porter, pastor of the Second Baptist church, will deliver an appeal for the Disabled American Veterans of the World War at the Daffodil cafe at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, before the sixty chairmen of the Forget-Me-Not day campaign committee. Following Dr. Porter's address complete plans will be made for the Saturday campaign, when Atlanta women will sell forget-me-nots on the streets to raise money for the wounded heroes of the war who are now in distress or need assistance to obtain their vocational training.

Mrs. Irving S. Thomas, a prominent Atlanta matron, who heads the women's division of the campaign, will preside at this meeting. Among the others who will address this meeting, which will be preceded by tea, will be Dr. Louis Prosterman, himself a wounded veteran, who is the chairman of the Georgia campaign; H. M. Dickett, vice chairman, and Commander L. Fierston, of the Georgia branch of the World War Veterans of the World War.

TRAFFIC PROBES MEET AGAIN TODAY

Session Tuesday Ends in Deadlock—Small Chance of Action Before Council Meets.

Atlanta's traffic committee which ended its session Tuesday deadlocked, will meet again at city hall Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

All hope that the traffic investigations would agree on an ordinance in time for its presentation to city council next Monday apparently went glimmering before the diversity of opinion at the Tuesday session.

The committee voted down a resolution by J. P. Allen that the present traffic ordinance be left intact, with the exception that one-hour parking be permitted from 9 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the downtown areas where 30-minute parking is now in vogue.

The committee then voted down a resolution by J. M. Van Harlingen, president of the Atlanta Motor club, that the plan tentatively proposed by his organization—an elaborate revision of the parking program—be approved.

After two hours of debate the committee adjourned. The present traffic ordinances found champions in Mr. Allen, F. E. Maffett, John M. Smith and C. E. Bloodworth. The existing ordinances were scored by Mr. Van Harlingen, W. G. Peoples and F. L. Butler.

As soon as the committee tentatively agrees upon some plan or ordinance a hearing will be held to get the public's opinion.

Two Seaboard Trains To Resume Schedules, Following Strike End

Restoration of Seaboard Air Line railway trains Nos. 7 and 8, known as the "Owl," operating between Atlanta and Birmingham, and vice versa, which were temporarily withdrawn on account of the recent railway strike, will be made effective midnight, November 5, according to an announcement Tuesday by Fred Geissler, assistant general passenger agent.

Both trains will leave Atlanta and Birmingham terminals at 12:01 midnight, reaching their respective destinations at 6:50 a. m. the same day. Both are equipped with day coaches and sleeping cars, it was stated.

Information Sought As to Present Address Of Former Atlantan

Information concerning the present address of J. D. Flint, formerly of Atlanta, but now believed to be living in some other place in Georgia, is desired by G. B. Murray, prominent lawyer of Chattanooga, who has written The Constitution to ask that Mr. Flint be located.

Mr. Murray wrote that Mr. Flint is an important witness in some litigation in cases at Chattanooga and that it is necessary that he be located.

Persons having information concerning Mr. Flint are asked to communicate with Mr. Murray of the firm of Murray and McCall, lawyers, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Singing Veteran Footing It Back From Convention

In Atlanta on Long Hike From Atlantic City to New Orleans.

Francis Collins, veteran of the world war, arrived in Atlanta Tuesday afternoon on his return hike from Atlantic City to New Orleans, where he attended the recently concluded American Legion convention.

He said he has hiked all the way from the New Jersey city and has been 20 days on the road from New Orleans to Atlanta. He said he would arrive home in time to spend Christmas "with the folks."

The distance from Atlantic City to New Orleans and back, Collins stated, was 2,775 miles. He said he didn't mind walking in the heat, declaring it was splendid exercise.

Collins is a member of the Horace Gale Post No. 16, of the American Legion, in Atlantic City. While in New Orleans he sang before 2,000 veterans at the Greenwald hotel. His buddies call him "Uncle Sam's McCormick."

Attend Hotel Meeting.

A. B. Moody, manager Wincoff hotel, and George L. Keen, manager the Kimball house, have been named delegates from the Atlanta Hotel Men's association to the northwest Georgia district meeting to be held at the Wayside inn, Cedartown, Ga., Saturday, November 4.

BURGLAR SUSPECTS ARRESTED IN MOBILE

Wiley Thompson and William Eton, arrested in Mobile recently, admit, according to the police there that they are wanted in Atlanta on a burglary charge, a telegram stated Tuesday.

Local police believe the pair to be implicated in the robbery of the United States army store at 22 East Alabama street. The Mobile authorities say the men had considerable money on their persons when they were arrested.

Official Kiwanian Entertainer Plays For Atlanta Club

Jules Brazel, of Toronto, Canada, the official entertainer for the International Kiwanis club, entertained Atlanta Kiwanians and their wives at the Anley roof garden Tuesday noon at the regular weekly luncheon. More than 300 guests were present.

There were no speeches, the meeting being turned over to the diminutive Canadian shortly after the luncheon was concluded.

Playing a piano with dexterity and singing songs of dyed-in-the-wool originality, the official fun-maker for the Kiwanians had no difficulty in keeping everyone in a most hilarious mood.

One of the surprises on the program was the appearance of Mrs. Brazel, who is accompanying her husband on his present tour of the south. By request she sang "Tell Me Pretty Maiden" from the Floradora light opera. She has a pleasing voice, and was induced to sing "Coming Through the Rye" for an encore.

DE BOUCHELLE CASE STILL UNDER COVER

Attorney for New Orleans Society Leader Maintains Silence Tuesday.

No new developments came to light Tuesday in the case of Mrs. Orestina de Bouchelle, of New Orleans, former fiancée of Asa G. Candler, as a result of the visit to Atlanta of Harry C. Amble, attorney for Mrs. de Bouchelle. Mr. Amble declared Tuesday he had absolutely nothing to make public and said there is nothing new in the case.

Mr. Amble was unable to say how long he will remain in Atlanta on his present trip. He also would make no statement as to whether or not he had employed local counsel to help him in his case. It was learned from other sources, however, that Mr. Amble has not yet retained an Atlanta lawyer.

Mrs. de Bouchelle formerly was engaged to marry Mr. Candler, but the engagement later was broken.

DEBUTANTES MAKE FORMAL BOW AT GAY HALLOWEEN BALL

Occasion Marks Opening
Of Fall Season at Club

The Halloween ball at the Piedmont Driving club Tuesday evening was a most brilliant and elaborate occasion. Thirty-four lovely debutantes, members of Atlanta society, were formally introduced at this ball, which marks the opening of the club's social program for the fall and winter.

Colorful Decorations.

Gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums and pumpkin heads formed the centerpiece for each table. Unshaded yellow tapers having tiny black cats and witches painted on the candlesticks, burned in pumpkin head holders. Alternating with these unique candlesticks were small yellow baskets and black witches. On the debutante table, which was placed in front of the large fireplace at the far end of the room, were placed baskets cut from pumpkins and filled with fruit. This table was arranged in the shape of a large M to accommodate the large number of girls and their escorts.

Encircling the walls were black paper cats and bats and witches. In the doorway of the ballroom stood two life-size witches with peaked caps and broom sticks. Large pumpkin heads shaded the lights and added to the "spookiness" of the scene.

Debutantes' Table.

After all present were seated at the tables, a popular march was played by the orchestra, and the debutantes entered, each lovely girl escorted by two young men. Contingents of the debutante table, this being the largest number of girls to make their debut in Atlanta. Each man wore a white rose in his coat lapel.

Miss Stone
Is Honored
By Mrs. Trotti

Mrs. Hugh Trotti was hostess at a beautiful bride party on Monday afternoon, honoring Miss Marion Stone.

A profusion of large yellow and white chrysanthemums were used to decorate the rooms in which the games were played. The color scheme, yellow and white, was carried out in all details, score cards, prizes and refreshments. Miss Stone was presented with a piece of white and gold china. Miss Kirby Williamson won the prize for top score, which was white and gold china, and Mrs. Stanley Hastings cut the consolation, a white and gold part box.

A Halloween witch delivered a shower of beautiful gifts to the bride-to-be from a huge witch's cauldron. Miss Stone wore a becoming costume of maroon colored ermine-trimmed gown, with a black velvet picture hat. A corsage of Ophelia roses completed the handsome toilette.

Mrs. Trotti wore a gown of dark brown metallic lace embroidered with gold, over brown satin. The ladies invited were Miss Stone, Mrs. M. L. Arnold-Fields Wedding Is Beautiful Church Event

Wide social interest centers in the marriage of Miss Louise Arnold, of McDonough, to Dozier Nelson Fields, of New York city, which took place Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church of McDonough, the Rev. Dr. W. W. Arnold, father of the bride, officiating.

The altar was banked with stately palms, ferns, and yellow chrysanthemums. The entire church was effectively decorated with smilax and yellow chrysanthemums, with floral standard placed at intervals. Floor baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums and candelabra containing yellow candles completed the decorations.

Just before the ceremony Mrs. Jake Giles, a sister of the bride, sang "Untill" following a musical program rendered by Mrs. Benton Thompson.

Bridal Attendants. The ribbon bearers were little Misses Mary Turner, Miriam Tolleson, Nan Dowd and Margaret Turner. They wore dainty frocks of green tulle, trimmed in silver, with skirts petal-shaped.

They were followed by the matrons, Mrs. H. A. Looper and Mrs. Howard Arnold, accompanied by the groomsmen, Baykin Newman and John Pullin. Mrs. Looper and Mrs. Arnold wore dresses of blue satin combined with silver lace. They wore black picture hats and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. I. C. Doe, the matron of honor, entered next, wearing a French model of silver tulle and lace, with a long duvetyne trimmings and a picture hat of the same material. Her arm bouquet was of bronze chrysanthemums. The maid of honor, Miss Emma Arnold, followed. She wore a model of blue Molly-O crepe, with black picture hat. Her flowers were pink chrysanthemums.

The little ring bearer was Dorothy Giles, a niece of the bride. She wore a dainty frock of blue tulle and cream lace and carried the ring in a large pink rose.

Proceeding the bride came the flower girl, little Miss Martha Giles. Her costume was pink tulle combined with silver, with a long duvetyne trimmings and a picture hat of the same material. She carried a basket of pink roses.

Preston B. Holtzendorff, Jr., acted as best man. The ushers were William Amis and George Alexander.

Lovely Young Bride. The lovely young bride entered on the arm of her brother, Abner R. Arnold. She was charming in a smart three-piece model of Sorrento blue duvet-de-laine, with mole trimmings. Her hat was of silver cloth, with grey shoes and accessories to match. She carried a shower bouquet of Columbia roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. J. F. M. Fields, mother of the groom, was gown in grey canton with silver trimmings.

Mrs. Jake Giles, of Richmond, wore navy blue satin canton with black picture hat.

Out-of-Town Guests. Among the out-of-town guests present at the marriage were: A. R. Arnold, of Asheville, N. C.; Milton Arnold, of Asheville, N. C.; Milton Arnold, of Asheville, N. C.; Milton Arnold, of Asheville, N. C.

Reception Honors
Visiting Bishops
Monday Afternoon

Bishop and Mrs. H. J. Mikell were hosts at a very beautiful and brilliant reception Monday afternoon, at their home on East Seventeenth street, in honor of the visiting bishops here for the four-day jubilee observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary of St. Philip's cathedral.

The house was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums and ferns artistically arranged in baskets. The table in the dining room was adorned with a cluny lace cover and had as a centerpiece a silver basket of yellow and white chrysanthemums tied with a fluffy yellow tulle bow. Surrounding this were silver candelsticks holding unshaded yellow tapers, and alternating with silver compoities filled with bon bons.

Bishop and Mrs. Mikell had receiving with them Dean and Mrs. Thomas Johnston, the Right Rev. F. F. Reese, bishop of Georgia; the Right Rev. Beckwith, bishop of the diocese of Alabama.

Mrs. Ten Eyck Brown, Mrs. Thomas Fuller, Mrs. Robert Alston and Mrs. Julian Binford assisted Mrs. Mikell in entertaining.

Mrs. Mikell wore a handsome afternoon gown of lavender lace.

Two hundred and fifty guests called during the afternoon.

Beautiful Halloween Dance
At East Lake Country Club

One of the most elaborate and beautiful of the season's Halloween entertainments was that given at the East Lake Country club when many congenial parties assembled for the annual Halloween dinner-dance.

The club was beautifully decorated in a manner suggestive of the season, the color motif of yellow and black carrying out the idea of Halloween. The spacious living room and dining room of the club were effectively lighted by pumpkin lanterns and electric lights shaded by Halloween lanterns with attractive streamers. Branches of red and gold autumn leaves were banked against either side of the fireplace and against the walls. The tables, grouped about the sides of the room, had as beautiful centerpieces baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums. Halloween favors were at each place.

Delightful Parties. Many delightful parties assembled for the dinner-dance.

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Selman entertained a party of eight. Their guests included Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Brawner, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Preter, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. McCollough.

One of the largest parties of the evening was that of Dr. and Mrs. Goetz who entertained the following: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fair, Dr. and Mrs. John Derr, Mr. and Mrs. James Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. George Bell and Shepard Kennedy.

I. M. Bloodworth was host at one of the larger parties. His guests included the Misses Estelle Dimmock, Elizabeth Westley, Dr. Fred Curtis, Thomas D. Seals, Goodman Walker, W. T. Zachary and Mr. Jackson.

Among others entertaining were C. B. Morris, E. Maney, W. D. Dook, Charles W. Wynne, W. S. Yates, Dr. C. E. Lawrence, H. B. Worsley, H. C. Mather, H. H. Harris, G. H. Lapsley, O. D. Sanford, H. G. Kirk, D. C. Boyles, S. S. Chalmers, Mr.

St. Anthony's Guild. Mrs. T. G. Johnson will entertain this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at her home on Ashby street in West End in honor of the ladies of St. Anthony's guild.

All past presidents of the guild will receive with the hostess, Mrs. Joel Chandler Harris, pioneer and first president of the guild, will preside at the coffee table. There will be a musical program and Father Jackson will talk on the past and future work of the guild.

An Exceptional Christmas
Offer From Davis & Freeman

THIS, frankly, is an effort to relieve ourselves of the necessity of telling some of our good customers who wait until December to do their Christmas shopping that the articles they wanted have been sold, or that we cannot properly engrave their purchases in time to make delivery before Christmas.

We will, if you have a charge account with us, deliver now any purchase intended for a Christmas present, and bill you for it in January.

Or, if you have no account, we will reserve for you any article in our stock upon payment of a small deposit, and deliver it at any time before Christmas.

We like to give good service, and to be able to supply you with just what you want. We can do both if you will give us just a little co-operation.

Next Week, "The Riddle of the Night"

By T. W. Hanshaw

"Just made it!" gasped the unknown, bending his head. "Good boy, George! Let her out for all she has. Don't give them a chance to rip our ties."

Bang-bang! Both barrels of the shotgun, this time, Harding wasn't sure whether it was shot or ice that drummed against the mud guards.

Three minutes later he sat up and glanced behind. He saw nothing but black trees and white fields rushing and converging toward the vanishing point in the road. The enemy was nowhere in sight. For the first time since leaving the club Harding was conscious of a comfortable warmth.

"You're not hurt, Mr. Harding?" Harding closed his lips firmly, as firmly as his beating lungs would permit. He had nothing more to say to this young man.

"I shot over their heads, and no doubt they shot over ours—at first."

The unknown waited for a moment; then, being convinced that Harding was declining the invitation to converse, he climbed into the forward seat and took the wheel away from the chauffeur, who, thus relieved, sank at once out of sight into the foot-room below, out of the bite of the winter wind. The unknown reached down with a free hand, evidently to pat the other's shoulder. It occurred to Harding that no one ever patted him on the shoulder. Prestige, Prestige forswears the camaraderie of good fellowship. He did not go far on this track of retrospection; he wasn't permitted to.

If the chauffeur was a reckless driver his comrade was relatively a mild one. The car leaped under his touch. Two fountains of ice, water and mud streamed on each side. If there was an abrupt rise in the road the wheels never touched the immediate declivity. Sixty miles an hour! Harding did this way and that, hanging desperately to such supports as he could put his numb hands on. Any moment might see the three of them dead and mangled in the ditch.

It was 2 o'clock in the morning when the car tore into upper Broadway. Presently the speed slackened and slowed down to 20 miles. Harding could not move a muscle in his face.

"Club or house, Mr. Harding?"

"Club." It was the first word Harding had spoken since leaving the deserted house beyond Tarrytown. It was also the last the unknown heard from him that night.

When the car stopped before the club the front was dark. This was not one of those organizations where men played cards all night. At one of the doors was locked, and those members who had elected to remain were already in bed. Harding engaged yearly a room and bath. It was the one place in town where he could find the absolute seclusion his spent energies sometimes demanded. Stiffly he alighted.

"Catch!" called out the unknown over the shoulder of the chauffeur, who had resumed the passenger seat. Instinctively Harding held out his hands to catch the object hurtling toward him. Too late he realized what this object was.

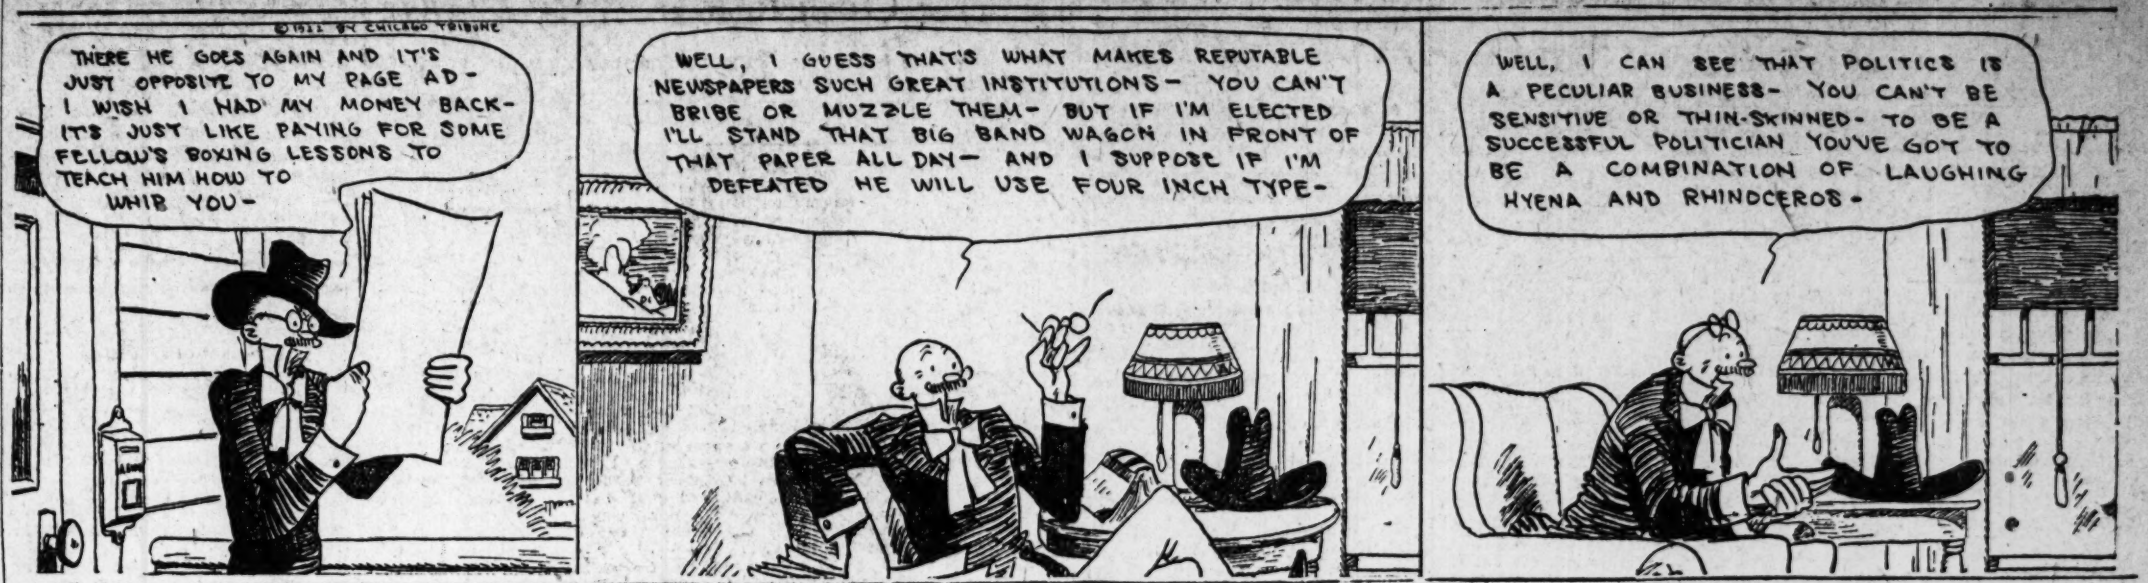

The unknown laughed. "At 7 tomorrow night."

The car started off.

Harding watched it balefully until it turned back into Broadway. Then he stuffed the bank stock into the voluminous pocket of his overcoat, and climbed the club steps. The second floor had recovered the stock during that momentary darkness. Clever; confoundably clever! No; this young man never overlooked details.

Harding rang the bell impatiently. After several minutes the night room clerk opened the door sleepily. Suddenly he became wide awake, his eyes threatening to roll out upon his cheeks. This temporary paralysis gave Harding the opportunity to push inside.

"Stop where you are!" thundered

There he goes again and it's just opposite to my page ad—I wish I had my money back—I'm just like paying for some fellow's boxing lessons to teach him how to whir you—

Well, I guess that's what makes reputable newspapers such great institutions— you can't bribe or muzzle them— but if I'm elected I'll stand that big band wagon in front of that paper all day— and I suppose if I'm defeated he will use four inch type—

Well, I can see that politics is a peculiar business— you can't be sensitive or thin-skinned— to be a successful politician you've got to be a combination of laughing hyena and rhinoceros—

I have taken a man's vacation in twenty years.

"But you can't see Europe now, sir."

"Probably not. Never judge a man by his looks, Mathewson; ask him how he feels. They say it takes a million bullets over in Europe to kill a single man. Perhaps that accounts for my being alive and kicking at this moment. Tomorrow I'll tell you a story—about pistols and masks and wild rides through the night. ## SELLING ORDERS DECLINES WHEAT

Heavy Decline in Liver pool With Increased
Crop Estimates Decline Persists.

Chicago, October 31.—Persistent scattered selling induced by a material decline in prices at Liverpool and the apparent lull in export demand had a bearish effect today on wheat here. The close was heavy 7-8 to 1 1-4c net lower, with December $1.13 7-8 to 1.14, and May $1.12 1-8 to 1.12 1-4. Corn finished 7-8 to 1c down, oats off 1-4 to 1-2c and provisions varying from 10c decline to 5c advance.

With Liverpool wheat quotations finishing as much as 2 pence lower in some cases and with an increase of more than 7,000,000 bushels reported on the world's available supply, the buying side seemed to be at a disadvantage for at least the time being. Rains over much of the domestic winter crop belt, the south west in particular, counted as a further bearish influence. Besides, primary receipts were in excess of the figures last week and last year.

New York, October 31.—Cotton was rather less active today and fluctuations were irregular. An early advance on better British trade advices met much realizing and after selling at 24.37 or 17 points net higher, December broke to 24.06. There was a slight selling order around the ring, brought in by the reactions of yesterday afternoon, but they were soon absorbed, and the early buying movement carried prices to 24.19 and 24.20. The market then moved to 24.19 and 24.20. Profit taking became more active on this advance and seemed to be prompted by reports that after having bought very freely for the last few weeks, the demand from domestic mills was falling off.

There was also scattered southern selling on the reaction which carried January contracts off to 23.82 or about 9 to 14 points net higher, and average of southern spot advices seemed to encourage buying on this decline and the market moved to 24.19 and 24.20. The market then moved to 24.19 and 24.20. Profit taking became more active on this advance and seemed to be prompted by reports that after having bought very freely for the last few weeks, the demand from domestic mills was falling off.

NEW YORK SPOTS.
New York, October 31.—Cotton liquidating; middling 24.30.

LIQUIDATING HALTS RISE IN NEW ORLEANS
New Orleans, October 31.—Early advance today carried the price of cotton up for gains of 11 to 16 points but during a good part of the remainder of the session the market felt a reaction and the price of cotton fell to 23.87. It was a fairly active market in spite of the fact that tomorrow will be a holiday here in observance of All Saints day.

On the opening and for a short period after a good demand prevailed and it cleaned up everything offered. The close was at a net decline of 7 to 10 points. The liquidation that soon set in changed the tone of the market considerably and there was further selling when traders who had been talking reaction commenced to take a hand in the operations. Around the middle of the morning the lowest prices of the day were reached, the price of cotton falling off to 23.43 and the list showing losses under yesterday's close of 15 to 19 points.

From the middle of the day on the tone was steadier and recoveries carried prices back up almost to the highest level again. May showed most strength and reaction of the crop had been the day, 23.65, which was 12 points over yesterday's close. For these recoveries, telegrams from the interior telling of a better demand for cotton from both spot houses and Carman and Georgia mills were mainly responsible although the large exports for the day had some effect. ## "Sincerely Yours" Used In Letter to Wife

New York, October 31.—Herbert Dresher, an attorney, has written Mayor Hyl a voicing strong objection to the mayor sending Mrs. Dresher a campaign letter ending "Sincerely yours."

"Replying to your letter to my wife," Dresher's letter read, "allow me to record my strongest objection to your 'sincerely yours' closing. Such objections are made because of the fact that my wife is a married woman, who I am informed, has never been introduced formally or otherwise to your honor. Hence a letter written even by the mayor of this city to a lady who is not even an acquaintance should not be closed, in my humble opinion, along that 'sincerely yours' line preceding your signature."

Dresher inquired also, in the letter, who was paying for such letters of the official stationery of the mayor's office, advocating the candidacy of William B. Carswell for the supreme court justiceship.

A Frenchman has invented and constructed a wireless alarm clock.

Andrew J. Gump On Home Stretch In Congress Race

'Fer Andy' and 'Agin Andy' Clubs Forming Throughout Country.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

The guy who said politics in Georgia is over was misquoted. Politics "is" or "are" not over by a moonshine jugful. The entire state is torn asunder wider than a baseball roofer's mouth.

It's all about the sensational race for congress being run in the United States at large by Andrew Johnson Gump, the 100 per cent-for-the-people candidate who wears no man's collar and bares his back to no man's lash. The name of Andy Gump is on everybody's lips as the day for the general election approaches and it is hard to see how the human mind can stand the strain between now and November 7 when the fateful day for ballot casting arrives.

Within the last few days "Fer Andy" and "Agin Andy" clubs have sprung up all over Georgia. Even Rallies Vote Sellers.

"I call on every man who has ever sold his vote to come in at once and make his price as cheap as he can just out of patriotism so Andy will get some reward for the fight, he is making in the people's behalf."

Colonel Silas Rutabaga, the south Georgia statesman, is strong in his opposition to the candidacy of Andy Gump and makes no bones about it.

"I'm agin Gump," Colonel Silas said between chews at the Kimball Tuesday. "Gump butted into this campaign. I'm a party man myself. I believe in sticking by the nominee. I ain't got no use for any demagogue like Gump. That 100 per cent for the people stuff is all bunk. They all say that before they're elected. Where's there one who ever got in office that was 100 per cent for anything after he was elected?"

"This Gump is a cheap, common shrimper," Colonel Silas continued. "I am organizing the 'Agin Andy' clubs in all parts of Georgia and if anybody says I'm being paid out of the democratic or republican campaign funds they're miserable, cowardly liars."

"Of course we'll accept campaign contributions when they are legitimate and not illegitimate. They can be made payable to me personally. I'm in this fight agin Gump to the finish."

Nation Is Divided.

The partisans of Andy Gump in the "Fer Andy" clubs are anxious to see him seated in congress just to see what he will do when he gets up there in "the big legislature."

The members of the "Agin Andy" clubs are equally anxious to see him defeated so he will have to go to selling life insurance or to taking subscriptions for Anybody's magazine with free dress patterns or air rifles with each subscription.

In the meantime that sturdy old military official, General Public, is watching the race with keen interest and not a development escapes notice. It's only seven more days until election day but every day will be a big day if things keep on going like they are.

Keep your eye on 100 per cent Andy.

TESTIMONY CONCLUDED AT CHAMPION TRIAL

Cleveland, Ohio, October 31.—(By The Associated Press.)—Testimony was concluded and summing up arguments by the state opened late today in the first degree murder trial of Mrs. Mabel Chapman, 22, charged with the slaying of Thomas A. McConnell, carnival promoter, of New Haven, Conn., in a restaurant here last July.

In his opening statement E. C. Stanton, county prosecutor, asked that the jury impose the death penalty on Mrs. Chapman, declaring she was guilty.

"This girl is from Texas, and shoots from the hip," he declared. The defense's objection to this statement was sustained.

The state sprang a surprise in its rebuttal testimony, offering the blood-spattered clothing of O'Connell as evidence, and through Captain Daniel Stanton, police firearms expert, the prosecutor demonstrated the death shots could not have been fired at close range, as the defense contended.

The officer's testimony was in contradiction of that of Mrs. Chapman, who said the death shots were accidental while O'Connell was holding her arm. During the introduction of this evidence Mrs. Chapman showed her first emotion. She turned her face away as the clothing was presented and as the prosecutor re-enacted the shooting she buried her face in her hands.

The case is expected to be in the hands of the jury late tomorrow.

Mrs. Flinchum.

Funeral services for Mrs. J. A. Flinchum, 24, who died Sunday at her home in London, Ky., were held here Tuesday morning, November 2, at 10 o'clock, at the East Atlanta Christian church. Interment was in Bethel cemetery, near Conners, Ga. A. S. Turner, of Decatur, had charge of arrangements.

She is survived by her husband, one brother, Ernest Wells, and a sister, Mrs. W. D. Brannan, both of Atlanta.
